PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

What has happened to this year? It is almost over and it seems as if little has been accomplished.

But throughout the country numismatics has been revamped a bit. The Lincoln cents are once again an endangered species and reports come in about their shortages. What about the Susan B? What is its future? Was the U.S. gold medallion a fiasco? The CC collar sale had its pluses and minuses — it even brought in new collectors. The Garrett sales were unbelievable, but what an opportunity for us to view and to obtain rare and beautiful material!

The American Numismatic Association Convention in Cincinnati is a thing of the past. . . . its midwinter convention in Hawaii is in the offing. Several local club coinaramas have been held. CSNA had its semi-annual affair in San Diego. And, NASC's big one in January will soon be here in all its glory.

There is so much being done for this convention that it cannot help but be TREMENDOUS 26TH. All the committees are busy "committeeing" and excitement is in the air! The Educational Forum has two great speakers. The Junior Forum is going to be special. The exhibit room should be sensational with the theme of "America First" throughout. Organizations will have semi-annual or annual meetings as scheduled. Friendship and congeniality will abound. And. . . not miss the final item of this convention: the banquet at which all the honors to be bestowed including the exhibit awards and installing the incoming officers.

Since this message is my "Swan Song", I want to take this opportunity of merely expressing my gratitude to each of you who have been so faithful and dedicated to help this administration. Through all of your efforts — chairing committees, helping committee chairmen, attending board meetings, making appearances at coin shows and club meetings to publicize our great organization, and just generally being there when you are needed has been great. I have enjoyed the experience immensely. It has not only been filled with challenges, but has been very rewarding and enlightening. TO ALL OF YOU A GREAT BIG THANK YOU!

This should also be arriving in time for me to also wish everyone Season's greetings and the best year ever.

I hope to see ALL of you on January 29, 30, 31, 1981 at the Los Angeles Ambassador Hotel.

WELL COME!

EDITOR'S PAGE

The Quarterly is sorely in need of articles again. We were so short that I had to include one that I wrote, and I do not think that anyone wants this publication to become a one man operation. PLEASE write an article for us.

Articles are easy to write. The hard part is getting started. Listed below are a few helpful hints that should make it easier to get started and to write a good article.

1. Pick a topic. If it is of interest to you, it will interest others. Unless you plan to write a book, pick a subject that can be covered in a few pages. Do not pick a subject like the Civil War, but limit it to one like "Design Changes to the Seated Liberty Quarters".

2. Review your background material and decide exactly what you want to cover.

3. Write an outline of your article leaving several spaces between each heading.

4. Reread your background material making notes under the appropriate heading of your outline. This is the time to add and delete topics from your outline as required.

5. Use your outline and tell yourself the story. Is it too long? Did you cover everything? Did you have to add or subtract from your outline? Correct the outline. At this point you are probably more than  $\frac{3}{4}$  of the way through your article!

6. Use the outline and write the article in the same terms you told the story to yourself.

7. Read the article and make corrections.

8. Set the article aside for several days. Forget the entire thing.

9. Reread your article. Does it still sound the way you want it to? Make any corrections and submit it to your Editor.

During the next few months our new President, Paul Borack, has to appoint committee chairmen. Would you like to participate? Let Paul know. If you have a particular talent or if you would be a willing worker, I am sure he can find a place for you. Many of the Committee chairmen will also need help so let it be known that you are willing. Participation in the activities of a club such as NAAU makes belonging worthwhile and a rich experience you will remember all of the rest of your life. JOIN IN.

This issue will try to outline some of the highlights of the Convention. There is no way that we can cover everything that will be happening so be sure to attend. There is something for everyone.

This will be my last report to the N.A.S.C. membership as Corresponding Secretary. I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of you wonderful MEMBERS! The past eight years as Corresponding Secretary have been very rewarding in the friendships I have acquired and will maintain throughout the years to come. Those of you who have written to me and that I have not had the opportunity to meet, I look forward to meeting you in the years to come. . . . I will still be active within the organization to work alongside the new term Officers and Committee Chairmen. So please keep in touch through my box Buena Park.

To all of our NEW MEMBERS, we wish to extend our sincere WELCOME! We hope to meet each one of you either during our convention in January or throughout the year. We look forward to your continued membership and welcome any suggestions you may have.

ERRORS TO YOU

By Ronn Fern, NEWS, NLG

One of the areas in numismatics that still remains inexpensive is error and error collecting. Many interesting and sometimes valuable coins can actually be found in circulation. It's especially great for junior collectors with limited funds. Most of all, it's primarily the only branch of coin collecting that demands knowledge of how coins are manufactured. In order to identify and/or classify a coin that is misstruck, you first have to know how the coin was made.

Why Collect Errors?

The knowledge gained from understanding the minting process can be of great benefit in educating the numismatist in the area of counterfeit coin detection. Today, more than ever, with the price of gold and silver on the rise, excellent counterfeit coins are being manufactured. Knowing what to look for could virtually save you hundreds and even thousands of dollars. Educated errorists have joined organizations like the ANA as well as the Mint in determining the authenticity of "questionable" coins.

Getting Started

It's a good idea to know a little about your subject before you get going. Knowing the temperature of the water before you jump in can save you a lot of embarrassment. Likewise, in error collecting, it's advisable to read a good book or magazine prior to searching for or buying your coins. This will also give you an opportunity to learn about the different types of errors and give you an idea of what you may want to collect. There are several books and magazines I recommend. Most can be obtained or ordered through your local coin dealer.

Recommended Reading

Official Guide to Mint Errors by Alan Herbert
Modern Mint Mistakes by Phil Steiner and Mike Zimpher
The Design Cud by Paul Marvin and Arnold Margolis
Collecting Counterfeit Coins, Book 1 by Lonesome John Jones
"Error Variety News" by Robert Wilharm & John Wexler, owners and publishers.
"Error Trends Coin Magazine" by Arnold Margolis, owner and publisher.
Several coin newspapers and magazines also include weekly or monthly columns on errors. These include "Coinage's" In Error, "Numismatic News" Corner, "Coin World's" Collector's Clearinghouse, and the "U.S. Coinage's" Error News and Views. These are also highly recommended reading.

The Proper Equipment

Usually, it's rather simple to outfit yourself for error collecting. All you need is a good light source, like a high-intensity lamp, a table to work on, and a magnifying glass (6X to 10X is best). In addition to this, a method of recording your finds, such as a log book, and a storage box to hold your collection is also suggested.

Obtaining Coins

Starting an error collection is easy. Reach in your pocket and pull out your change. There's an excellent chance one or more of the coins you're looking at has an error on it. Types of errors you'll likely find in circulation include: die breaks, laminations, rotated reverses, filled dies, mis-aligned dies, minor clips, minor off centers, impure planchet mixes, to name a few. You can get coins through stores, the bank, school cafeterias, vending machines and at work. The key is to contact and develop a good relationship with people who handle a lot of money. Tell them what you're looking for and ask them to save anything that looks unusual. Most minor errors are inexpensive, and you can usually get them for close to the face value of the coin.

Major errors are found almost exclusively in mint sewn bags of coins. These are bags that go to the Federal Reserve Banks unopened as they come from the mint. They are, in turn, shipped to branch banks as they are needed. Occasionally, a major error will show up in a bank wrapped roll, but this is not too common. Mint sewn bags can sometimes be obtained through some of the larger banks, check with them. Bags also mysteriously seem to show up at several dealer's shops, and can be purchased for a premium. Be sure and check with the firm, as shipping costs are usually added to the price, and to send 5,000 cents across the country isn't cheap. Quite a few coin shops also offer a line of error coins, but prices can and do vary, so it's wise to shop around. I recommend that you buy your major errors only from dealers who advertise regularly in the magazines and/or newspapers mentioned earlier. Most offer a liberal buy-back on their coins, and will guarantee them to be genuine mint errors. Types of major errors include off centers, clips, double strikes, double denominations (5¢ struck on struck 1¢), off metals (1¢ struck on 10¢ blank), and off planchets (50¢ struck on 25¢ blank).

How Can It Happen?

The inspection of coins today in the Mint is a highly mechanized procedure. There are a number of different systems that the struck coins go through in their journey from "birth" to the bag at the end of the line. Machines called riddlers eliminate through a series of openings, oversize and undersize coins. Even though the systems are elaborate, they are far from perfect. A machine that "catches" 99.9% of the coins will allow one hundred thousand coins to escape detection out of every billion struck. Within that one hundred thousand, there are sure to be some errors. Today, with each of the Mints operating around the clock, over two billion cents alone are struck by the Denver and Philadelphia branches. Add to that the number of nickels, dimes, quarters, halves and dollars struck, and you can begin to see that errors can and will happen. The Mint is a factory, nothing more. How many times have you purchased a new car, clothing, or household appliances and found them to be 100% perfect?

What's It Worth?

One of the most asked questions about error coins is "What is it worth?" A majority of uninformed collectors look at errors as either "junk", and not worth anything, or "that coin that will allow them to retire!" The truth is somewhere between. Many minor errors, being found in circulation, can be obtained for little value. Most of the major errors mentioned earlier (in the smaller denominations) can be purchased for under $50.00, with a good percentage in the $5.00 to $15.00 range. Several of the magazines, "ETCM" and "Coin Prices", have trends of error coins in them, as does many of the books I mentioned earlier. About a half a dozen or so specialized dealers offer error coin price lists (which are photo illustrated). This is an excellent way to "price" your errors in your collection. The lists are usually available for a minimum charge, and many of these dealers will mail you their lists for free if you purchase regularly from them. Their addresses can be found in the display and/or classified sections in the magazines and newspapers written about previously. Auction catalogs with their realized prices is still another excellent way of obtaining information on an error coin's value. Remember, the value of the error coins are dependent on supply and demand. The greater the demand, with a limited supply, the higher the value.

Join A Club

One of the fun in collecting any type of coin is getting together with others to share your same numismatic interests. One way to do this is by joining a coin club.

There's one big problem for the error collector though, not too many coin clubs have people who are interested in those "odd-looking" coins. However, not, there are two national clubs devoted entirely to errors: CONE (Collectors Of Numismatic Errors) and NECA (Numismatic Error Collectors of America) that can help you. Both are recommended. Each puts out some type of publication, CONE a weekly publication in a small Ohio newspaper, and NECA a monthly magazine called the "Errorscope". The clubs offer additional services as well, such as authentication, estate appraisal, die lending library, and youth programs to mention a few. Their addresses can be found in the books and magazines mentioned earlier.

Keep looking at your coins, in fact, why not take those you have in your pocket or purse and check them right now. You never know when you might find a minor clip, double die, or off center. Don't forget that errors can happen on paper money as well. One of the tellers at a bank I deal with recently spotted a $100 bill with the serial numbers printed upside down! The error is worth upwards of $750.00. Not a bad investment for $2.00! Happy hunting.

Medals of Hawaiian Rulers and Nobility

Clay Read — CSNA 1457

The glorious, but not forgotten, Rulers and Royalty of the Hawaiian Kingdom are depicted on these medals.

Captain James Cook (who was not a ruler or of Hawaiian royalty) was given the honor of being on the first set of medals because he discovered the Islands on January 18, 1778. He named them "The Sandwich Islands" in honor of Lord Sandwich.

The Cook medals were struck in 1964 of silver and bronze. The balance of the series were struck in aluminum, silver, and bronze. The low mintage aluminum medals were given to dealers who participated in the show making them relatively scarce. Certain issues of the silver medals are also considered scarce.

The medals were struck each year including 1976 which is not shown. They commemorate the annual convention of the Hawaiian Numismatic Association. No medal was struck for the year 1977. All are 39mm. The bronze and silver sets were struck in quantities of 500 each and the aluminum varied with the number of dealers attending. Quantities range from 51 to 100 over the years.

The fabulous history of the Hawaiian Rulers and Nobility is written in the following manner.

Capt. Cook — issued year — 1964

CAPTAIN JAMES COOK

Captain James Cook was born October 27, 1728 in the small Yorkshire village of Marton-in-Cleveland. In 1746 he was introduced to shipowners John and Henry Walker who gave him his first berth on a coastal collier named the "Freelove". He continued in this trade until 1775 when he joined the Royal Navy as an able seaman. His ability was soon proven and promotion to Master's Mate followed. During the next three years he served in the blockade of the French coast. In 1758 on board the "Pembroke" he sailed for North America where the French city of Quebec was under siege. Charting the St. Lawrence River was of vital importance to the final assault.

On August 26, 1768 Captain Cook sailed on the "Endavour" for Tahiti in the Society Group. He made many voyages between England and the Pacific and charted his discoveries on the way.

Suddenly, and without warning, the situation of the Hawaiian people changed for on January 18, 1778 Captain James Cook of the British Navy discovered the Hawaiian Islands quite by accident on his way from Tahiti to North America. He first sighted "Oahu", then Waimea on the Island of Kauai from his sailing ships the "Resolution" and "Discovery" and named his new sightings the "Sandwich Islands" in honor of Lord Sandwich, the head of the British Admiralty.

The King of Hawaii at that time was King Kalaniopi. The Hawaiian people had never before seen sailing ships this size and believed them to be "floating islands". They thought Captain Cook to be the Polynesian God "LONO".

Captain Cook's ships were anchored in Kealokekua Bay, "Pathway of the Gods", on the Kona Coast of the Island of Hawaii. While there, a native was accused of stealing, Captain Cook took an armed force ashore, and during the fighting Captain Cook lost his life on February 14th, 1779. His burial spot is today a British possession.

The earliest form of token currency to be used in the Sandwich Islands was that issued by the Koloa Plantation, Kauai in 1836.

King Kamehameha I—issued year—1965

KING KAMEHAMEHA I

Reign 1758-1819

King Kamehameha I "The Great" is pronounced KA-MAY-AH-MAY-AH. The birth-date of King Kamehameha I is uncertain, his father was Keoua Kalamkupu and his mothers name was Kekuiapo'iwa.

As foreigners began to arrive, King Kamehameha I unified the Hawaiian Kingdom by conquest with the help of two British seamen, John Young and Issac Davis, their reward was being made "Chief" and given estates and supplies.

The American ship "Fair American" was the first ship seized and added to the war fleet of Kamehameha I. A large naval battle was fought near Waipio, Hawaii Island and with the help of the two British seamen and cannons, known as "the red mouthed guns" won the battle against the Maui chiefs which led to the unification of the islands.

King Kamehameha I captured the island of Maui in February 1795. Soon after his fleet and army captured Molokai, then his forces landed at Waikiki, Oahu and defeated Kalanikupule's army at Pali Point in the Nuuanu Valley.

King Kamehameha I was a powerful man standing 6'6" in height, was agile, fearless, and skilled in battle. He had a strong mind and was an excellent judge of men and earned loyalty among his followers. He easily gained friendship and respect from foreigners. He divided the lands among his chiefs for their services.

The principal contribution of King Kamehameha I to the islands was in unifying them and ending forever the inter-island fighting.

King Kamehameha I is generally regarded as the first ruler to accept gold and silver as a medium of exchange.

The first horses were presented to King Kamehameha I on May 24, 1803 by Captain R. J. Cleveland of California. It was at this time the King decided to place the Island of Hawaii under the protection of Great Britain. The British flag was hoisted on Feb. 24, 1794 and Lt. Puget took possession of the island in the name of the British King. Great Britain did not ratify the action.

King Kamehameha I died May 8, 1819 at Kailua, Hawaii. The remains of this great King are in a secret cave. Only the "stars of the heavens" know the resting place.

King Kamehameha II—issued year—1969

KING KAMEHAMEHA II (Liholiho)

Reign 1819-1824

King Kamehameha II was the son of Kamehameha I, The Great. King Kamehameha II subdued the revolting Kauaians on the Island of Kauai, holding the King of Kauai as a royal prisoner in Honolulu. He swept away most of the temples and destroyed many of the old Gods carved of wood and stone.

King Kamehameha II, first constructive act was to permit "co-educational eating" which was a high crime and punishable by death. He also allowed women to eat bananas the first time.

King Kamehameha II abolished the "Kapu system". The King strongly pushed the use of alcohol and tobacco smoking and his reign was one of really "living it up".

In foreign relations, King Kamehameha II carried on the policy of his father, regarding the kingdom as being under the protection of Great Britain.

On November 27, 1823, King Kamehameha II and his wife, Kamamaler, sailed aboard the English whaler "L'Aigle" for a visit to England to meet with King George IV and his queen. King Kamehameha II and his wife, Queen Kamamaler took sick with the measles and died.

King Kamehameha III—issued year—1967

KING KAMEHAMEHA III (KAUIKEOULI)

Reign 1824-1854

King Kamehameha III, was the son of Kaahumanu, wife of King Kamehameha I, The Great.

The King granted the first religious freedom to the missionaries who arrived from Boston in 1823. The first Christian service was conducted in 1823 by two missionaries. Mormon missionaries first arrived in 1846 while the islands were under his reign.

King Kamehameha III accomplished more for the Sandwich Islands than all the other kings put together. He made the first laws, published Declaration of Rights, Royal school opened, the first constitution proclaimed, the first ambassador was sent to Europe. He started a school, first recognition of Hawaii's independence by the United States, Great Britain, and France, first division of lands, responsible for the "Great Mahele" in 1848 giving common people title to their property, abolishing old feudal controls and setting up a limited monarchy with a legislative and judiciary system.

On July 29, 1835, King Kamehameha III impressed his personal signet in red sealing wax on the "Lease of the Koloa Plantation", thereby providing evidence of the authenticity of the document and attention of the royal signature. This particular example of the royal seal is not known to be in existence today.

King Kamehameha III decreed the first Thanksgiving Day in Hawaii, featuring singing, speeches, a plea for teetotalism officially December 31, 1849.

The King chose "Lahaina" on Maui for his residence.

King Kamehameha IV—issued year—1972

KING KAMEHAMEHA IV

Reign 1854-1863

King Kamehameha IV was the only son of Alexander Liholiho (King Kamehameha III) and was married to Queen Emma. Their son, Albert Kamehameha died at the tender age of 4 on August 27, 1862 and for a long time, Hawaii mourned the passing of their little Prince.

King Kamehameha IV was responsible for "The Queen's Hospital". The birth rate was low and the death rate high, causing the King and Queen to raise money in 1859 to help stop this alarming situation. Before the end of 1860, the hospital was completed and named "The Queen's Hospital" after Queen Emma.

It is frequently stated that King Kamehameha IV was pro-British and anti-American. He took seriously the responsibility of his high position and ardently desired to maintain the independence of Hawaii and to promote the welfare of his country.

King Kamehameha V—issued year—1968

KING KAMEHAMEHA V

Reign 1863-1872

King Kamehameha V, the last of the "Great Chiefs of the Olden Type" believed the right to lead the people firmly. He believed his people to be hardworking and thrifty, with no waste, or idle temptations. He believed the privilege of voting should be the right of subjects who had some education and owned property. His greatest fear was that universal suffrage would end in establishing a republic in Hawaii, leading to inevitable annexation by the United States.

In an effort to strengthen the monarchy, Kamehameha V enacted a new constitution in 1864, which limited voters and office holders to men of property.

King Kamehameha V died December 11, 1872 at the Iolani Palace on his 43rd birthday. It has been said that Kamehameha V failed to appoint a successor because of a superstition fear that it would hasten his death.

King Lunalilo — issued year — 1970

KING WILLIAM CHARLES LUNALILO

Reign 1872-1873

The accession to the throne of King Lunalilo stands out as unique for he gave the people the opportunity to speak.

January 8, 1873 he became King by unanimous vote. Well educated, far above average, he went much farther than most Chiefs were willing to do so.

King Lunalilo was a cousin to Kamehameha V.

In his will he founded the Lunalilo Home on Oahu to provide for aged Hawaiians.

The state seal was also used during his reign.

King Lunalilo, in poor health at the start of his reign, was King just over a year, the shortest reign in Hawaiian history.

King Kalakaua — issued year — 1971

KING DAVID KALAKAUA

Reign 1874-1891

King Kalakaua, King of the Sandwich Islands, was elected King February 12, 1874. He was born November 16, 1836 and died in San Francisco on January 20, 1891. King Kalakaua was called by many "The Merry Monarch"

King Kalakaua was the first to rule from the historic "Iolani Palace" and laid the corner stone on December 31, 1879. He took residence officially in late 1882. He was a 33rd degree Mason in Scottish Rite.

The Merry Monarch, King Kalakaua had visions of grandeur and a yen to be King in his own right, but times had changed and when he found that he could only be a constitutional monarch, he set out to have a good time. The King came to the United States to visit President S. Grant and while there he brought about the reciprocity treaty. He had the United States form Pearl Harbor, sugar was free of duty, he took a tour around the world and built himself a palace, which is now the Capitol Building. The King bought a regal jewel-studded crown and struck numerous ribbons and orders for his friends.

The official seal of Kalakaua (red impression) was undoubtedly the King's personal signet ring bearing the monogram K.R. surmounted by the Roman Numeral III above which appeared a crown.

The famous silver dollar, 50 cent, quarter and dime coins appeared during the reign of King Kalakaua.

The King was an excellent musician, a composer of songs and a creator of hulas. He wrote several manuscripts and was considered to be a fine gentleman.

In 1884 King Kalakaua acquired the palace of Hulihehe for a residence.

He later was stripped of his dignity as King, intimidated to the point of becoming a puppet he died in San Francisco on January 20, 1891. His last words, which were recorded on a phonograph record were, "Tell my people I tried."

QUEEN LILIUOKALANI (LYDIA)

Reign 1891-1893

In 1882 Queen Liliuokalani and John Owens were married during the rule of King Kalakaua. She was well educated and had the air of one accustomed to rule.

When Queen Liliuokalani became ruler she tried immediately to revert to the good old days. Controversies flared up during her reign and after a short time she surrendered authority.

The queen organized "Queen Liliuokalani Children's Center" on the islands.

She was a gracious sovereign who in retirement forgave her deposed and lived happily in her old age, always the beloved Queen.

The Queen's many talents included a mastery of music and in the end she will probably be longer and better remembered by the world for her internationally famous song "ALOHA AE" (Farewell to Thee) which was written as much as a love song, as it was a farewell.

The monarchy was abolished in 1893. Her move to draw up a new constitution, removing checks on monarchical power was met with political upheaval. Though no longer Queen Liliuokalani, she reigned in the hearts of her people until her death on November 11, 1917.

ESTIMATED RARITY OF LIBERTY SEATED QUARTERS

By Austin Ryer, Jr.

The last of the 155 million or so Liberty Seated Quarters were struck more 80 years ago and since that time their population has been diminishing. This article will estimate the current status of that population by date and mint.

A survey of auction catalogues, fixed price lists, advertisements in a numismatic newspaper, published information and "brain picking" dealers has all been used to assist in determining the rarity of Liberty Seated Quarters presented.

The auction catalogue survey was conducted by recording each listing of a Liberty Seated Quarter by two major dealers in their catalogues over a period of twenty years (1956-1976). The dealers chosen were located on opposite coasts to minimize the number of times the same coin was counted. Every effort was made to list coins only once even though they appeared in several different catalogues. The survey was expanded to include additional dealers' auction catalogues during the last two years in order to place emphasis on the present.

It is recognized that auction catalogue surveys are not the most accurate means of determining rarity due to the inaccuracies of cataloguing, grading and repeat listings. However, the catalogues were chosen from well-known dealers and should present a fairly accurate picture. Catalogues listing only a few coins in this category, which might represent special interests such as type coins, birth years, etc., were not used in this survey.

Recent issues of COIN WORLD were also surveyed until the coins listed were repeated.

The accumulation of the survey data is presented in Chart 1.

The TOTAL column in Chart 1 includes circulated coins. Circulated coins were considered to run from good to uncirculated with rubbing or other similar terms. Chart 2 will present an estimated rarity for circulated coins as well as uncirculated and proof, but the circulated rarity is an estimate and should be treated as such. No one can guess what coins are held by the general public.

The method used to estimate rarity was to compare the data of a coin with unknown rarity with the data of a coin whose rarity was well known. The information thus gained was then reinforced by searching for coins at various large shows and by verbal contact with dealers. Chart 2 presents the results of his research.

The rarity scale used is the one developed by Dr. W. H. Sheldon, M.D. and is as follows: R-1 over 1250, R-2 500-1250, R-3 201-500, R-4 76-200, R-5 31-75, R-6 13-40, R-7 4-12, R-8 2-3, and U is unique. A question mark means unknown or unsure.

Some of the more interesting dealer comments, excerpted from their publications, about specific coins are presented to assist the reader in evaluating rarity and to provide information about this series of coins.

1841 — “Now common in unc. due to a hoard.” (1)

1842 sd proof — “After conferring with John J. Ford, Jr. and Walter Breen some years ago, we have compiled the following list of known 1842 Small Date Proof Quarters:

1. The Smithsonian Institution specimen.
2. The American Numismatic Society specimen.
3. A specimen in a private Midwestern collection. (NORWEB)
4. A specimen in the Estate of James Aloysius Stack.
5. The Jerome Kern specimen (probably in the collection of a gentleman from Vermont).
6. The Century coin (more than likely the Harlan P. Smith specimen).

Careful analysis of this compilation reveals that only two coins are involved after all these years. The Harlan P. Smith (?) Century — R. L. Miles, Jr....; and this the James A. Stack coin.” (2)

The Stack coin is now in the inventory of Paramount International Coin Corporation. There may be a seventh specimen if the Jerome Kern specimen is in the hands of a West Coast dealer.

1843 Proof — “No doubt less than ten struck.” (3)

1844o — “One of perhaps only three or four known in mint state.” (4)

1849 Proof — “Rarity 7 as are all the Proof Quarters in the 1840’s.” (5)

1850 — “1850 silver coins of all denominations are usually found with prooflike surfaces. The reason for this has never been explained.” (6)

1850-2 Proof — Proof quantities are very vague for these years. Several of each year have been reported but few have been authenticated.

1854 Proof — “We doubt if there were more than ten proofs struck for this year.”

and probably only a few are known." (7)

6 Proof – "Genuine proofs have a small die bulge under the eagle's right wing." (8)

8 Proof – Practically every coin reported or known has lint marks.

10 Proof – "Very scarce, only 1000 coined, all on March 8, 1860, of which some 537 were sold, mostly in sets, the rest were melted down." (9)

12 Proof – "Quite scarce as only 550 were minted on January 27, 1862, some 430 were sold (all in the sets) within the ensuing year, some of the rest were melted in 1863." (10)

2s – "Extremely rare as only about a half dozen uncirculated are known." (11)

4s – "Possibly unique in unc, of the Miles Coin is ex H. P. Smith." (11)

9s – "9 over inverted 9 (?) S over horizontal S." (9)

1cc – "UNIQUE IN MINT STATE." (12)

3cc – One reported sold in the James A. Stack Collection (Stack's March 1975). If this was the piece sold in the WGC sale, it is probably unique.

9 Proof – "Proof mintage of the 1879 quarter is probably 1,100 pieces, not 250 (as occasionally noted in print)." (13)

6 Proof – "I recut, closed 6, as on all Proofs." (14)

Postscript

Since the data had been gathered, several large collections of coins have come to the market but only tend to support the data presented herein. The author is by no means satisfied that the rarity numbers assigned are 100% accurate and is continuing his research and will welcome data from all sources.

NEW ANACS CERTIFICATION?

Stories about coin collectors are common but during the recent ANA summer seminar, I was told a story that I feel is worthy of retelling.

A young lady at the seminar was talking about her days as a new collector and about finding coins in circulation. She had found one coin which she had added to her collection gladly for she knew it was genuine — it had to be genuine because it had an ANA certification — or at least she thought so.

On the obverse and reverse sides of the coin there was stamped plainly for all to see the legend ANA 038 in a circle. Surely this was the 33rd coin to have been identified!

There is some logic(?) to this approach of identification — just think, you would not have to compare the coin to the picture. The authentication would be permanently displayed for all to see! I think I would have suggested this method to ANACS except that someone might take me seriously.

COLLECTOR PROFILE

By Carol Linn

Sometimes it is easy to write an introduction for the Collector Profile because the person fits nicely into a category. He is a collector, exhibitor or a hard worker for NASC. The subject this time is all of these and more. He has been honored many times and because of the many interesting events in his life, I will cut the introduction short and just say "Here's Ernie".

ERNIE HOOD SM 57

Ernie was born and raised in Lowell, Massachusetts. In 1923 he packed all his belongings in his Ford coupe and headed off to California. In those days there were practically no paved roads and the story of that trip would fill the entire Quarterly. He spent some time in Kansas City before arriving in California in 1924.

Every collector has some one event that leads them into a life of coin collecting and Ernie is no exception. Ernie is and was very active in his church. About 45 years ago his church started a "penny-a-meal" program. Each member of the church was given a small box and asked to put a penny in the box at each meal. At the end of the month the filled boxes were turned into the church treasurer. Ernie was that treasurer. Ernie was to sort, count and wrap all those coins and in the process noted that there were different designs and dates. He was hooked, but he did not realize it at the time.

One day while he was in town he noted a penny board in a store window. He bought the board and began filling the holes from the coins he found in the penny boxes. He was able to fill all the holes except two, the 1909S VDB and the 1914D which he was able to purchase for about 50¢ apiece. After filling one board he went ahead and filled two more. Many of the coins in the little boxes were new and so he started an uncirculated set. Finishing the uncirculated set was not easy but Ernie did finish it and began collecting all U.S. coins and has completed many sets. Ernie believes in doing a complete job of anything he tackles; he even makes his own plastic holders for his coins.

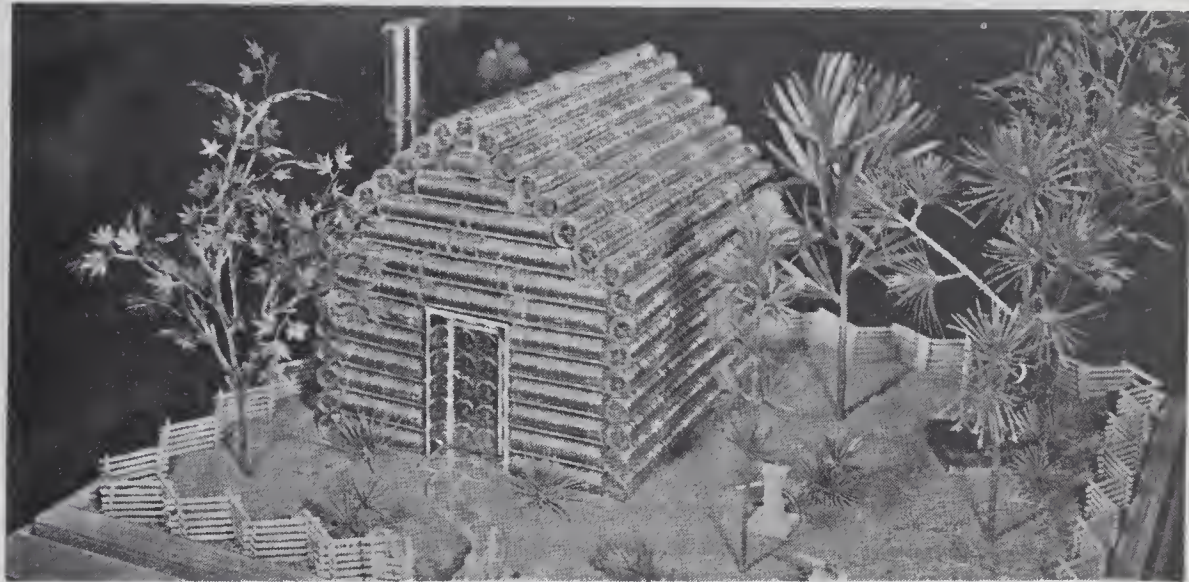

Ernie's club activities began when he moved to Culver City. He joined the Culver City Coin Club about one year after it was formed. He was responsible for finding the meeting room in the City Auditorium for the club and they still meet there.

In 1961 Culver City and Bay Cities Coin Clubs cosponsored the CSNA Convention. Ernie was the president of his club. CSNA requested exhibits from both clubs and individuals and Ernie wanted his club's exhibit to be something special. He came up with the idea of a log cabin patterned after the cabin that Lincoln was born in and made of Lincoln cents. How does one make a cabin out of Lincoln cents? Ernie made many sketches and finally decided on one.

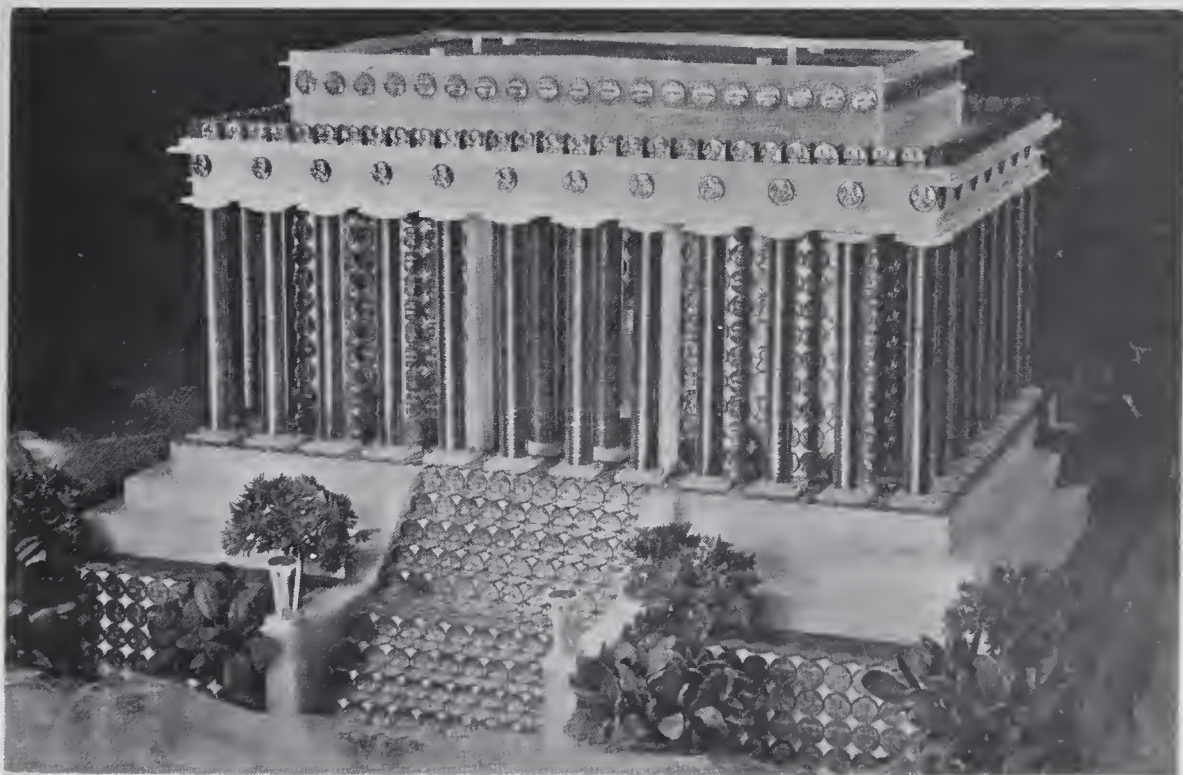

A framework of 75 feet of brass rods was soldered together and the cents were placed into plastic tubes. The tubes were then cemented to the brass rods to represent logs. It took 9600 uncirculated 1961 cents to make the model which measured 12½ inches long by 11½ inches wide and 12 inches high. The cabin was placed on a base that was 30 by 26 inches and finished with artificial trees.

flowers, outhouse, etc. There was even a split rail fence made out of 486 match sticks. The finished product weighed 125 pounds.

The display won the President's Citation at the convention. It was very popular with all who saw it and was displayed in the window of coin stores after the convention. It was in the window of Pauline Ney's store that John Authur saw the cabin. John Authur, owner of Ripley's Believe It Or Not Museums, was very impressed with the display and wanted to display it in one of the museums. Mr. Authur got in touch with Ernie and purchased the cabin.

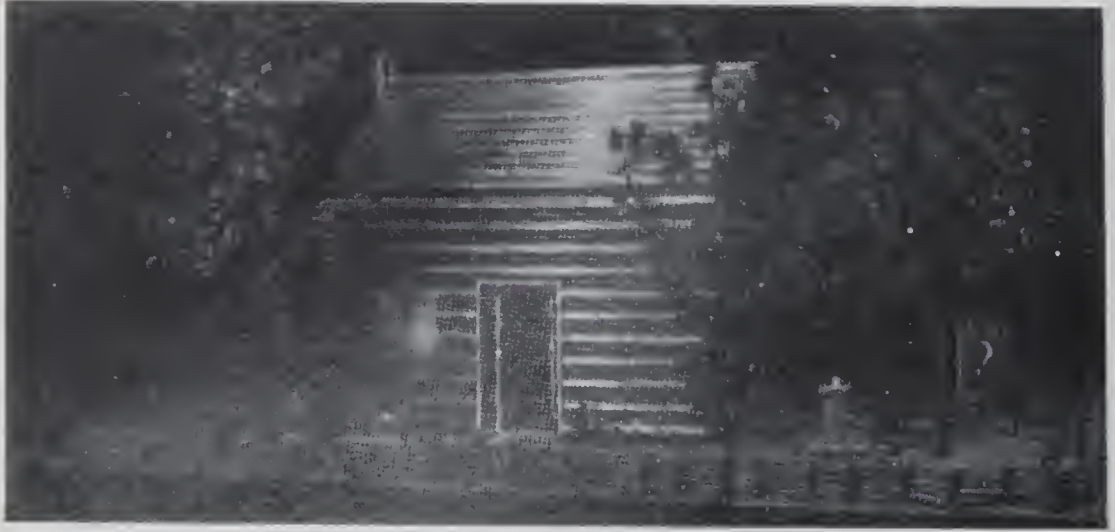

Ernie's next project was to build the Lincoln Memorial which was to exact scale. It is 28 inches long by 18½ inches wide and 20 inches high. The framework for this model is plywood covered with white plastic. The inside of the model is divided into three rooms and all walls inside and outside are covered with uncirculated 1962 cents. There are 36 columns of plastic tubing filled with cents. It took 8600 cents to finish this model. The model is complete in every detail including a scale model of Lincoln in the center room.

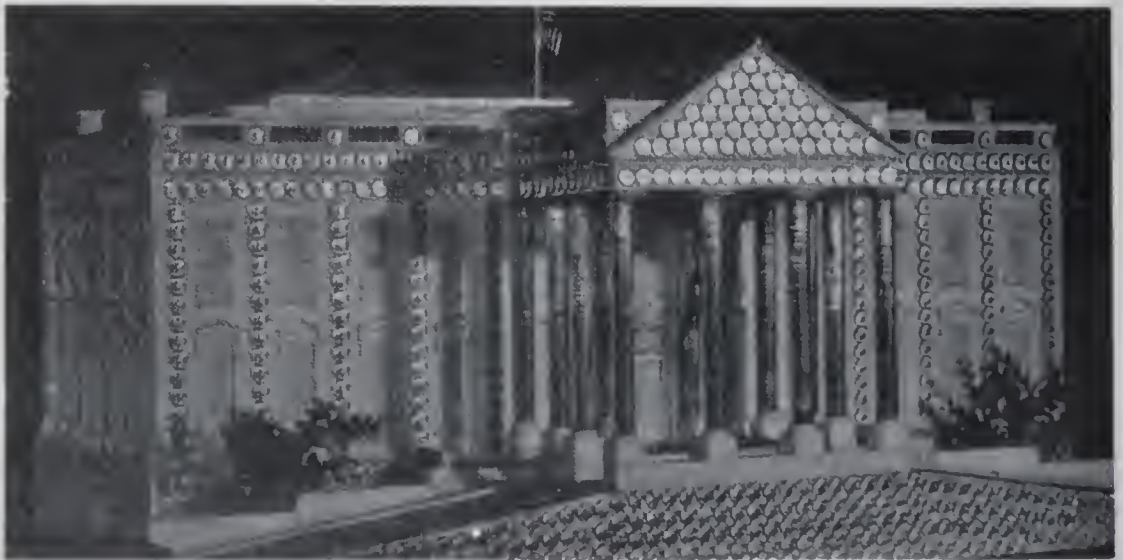

John Authur bought this model and later when Ernie made a duplicate, he also purchased it. One is on display in Canada and the other in England.

John Authur asked Ernie to build another log cabin, but this time to make it larger and more authentic in design and Ernie complied. In fact, he built two of them. Later Mr. Authur asked if it would be possible to build a replica of the White House using dimes.

All of the models were made to exact scale except the log cabins. This meant that the scale of the model had to be determined by the size of the coins used. Ernie wrote to Washington and obtained detailed information about the White House and then began his sketches.

The frame is made of plywood covered with white plastic. It is 24 inches long by 40 inches wide and 22½ inches high. There are over 2500 pieces of plastic and 6057 uncirculated 1963 dimes in this model. Today's price of the dimes alone is about $12,000. There are lights in the building which shine out through the windows and even a light in the fixture at the entrance. Ernie spent 950 hours across a 13 month period to complete this model.

In 1974 Ernie began the work on his pet project. It was the Jefferson Memorial and he wanted to use Jefferson nickels. Bags of uncirculated coins were no longer available from the banks so he went to three different banks and got a bag of circulated coins from each. He had to sort through the coins and pick out the ones that looked uncirculated. The one big problem to making the Jefferson Memorial was that the building had a dome. He had nothing he could use for a dome that was in the scale he needed. Ernie looked everywhere and one day while passing a gas station noted the telephone booth. It had a white plastic dome on the top. He measured it and found that it was within  $\frac{1}{4}$  inch of what he needed. Through a friend at the Telephone Company he was able to purchase one.

After months and 350 hours of work he was able to finish this project. The model contains 8000 nickels and is 36 inches wide by 43 inches long and 30 inches high. There is even a spotlight which lights up the statue of Jefferson and is all to scale.

One other problem which was solved was a pediment over the front door. It is a table with Jefferson and four other men drafting the Declaration of Independence. Ernie is very talented but he is not a sculptor. A company that specialized in this type of thing was contacted, and their price of $400 stopped Ernie cold. His daughter was taking ceramics at the time and felt that she could do the task, and do it she did. It was cemented in place and put on display in a couple of the local banks before it too went to Ripley's Museum.

Ripley's Museum, the home for this model was located in San Francisco and was under construction at the time the model was delivered to them. The model was stored in a warehouse. One day that warehouse caught fire and the model was destroyed. Ernie built another!

In 1965, Ed Borgolte, President of NASC, asked Ernie to take charge of the Club collection of coins and turn it into a museum for NASC. Money was allocated and cases were ordered. Ed had made arrangements with Union Bank to display the coins. This was the first time the collection had been open for the public. The collection has been on display in four different banks since that time. It has resided at its present location for the greatest amount of time. The current estimated value of the collection is $48,845.00.

Ernie extends an invitation for all members and friends to see the collection. It is located in the U.C. Bank at 9841 Airport Boulevard in the Tishman Building, next to the Marriott Hotel.

TWENTY-SIXTH ANNUAL CONVENTION REPORT

By Lorna Lebold

January 29, the opening day for our twenty-sixth annual convention, is rapidly approaching and I am sure that we are all interested in knowing what is happening. Your Editor has been after our busy committee chairpeople to give a short report on their plans for the show. They have come through as we had hoped and their reports are highlighted below. I want to assure everyone that we have not covered everything that will happen and, in fact, left out things on purpose. If you want to be in on all the action, you will just have to be there all three days or you will never know what you have missed.

Bourse Chairperson Ray Reinoehl

Ray reports that there will be major changes to the floor plan for dealers and exhibits this year. The exhibits will be moved to the foyer to give more space for dealers. We will have more than 100 this year and so everyone should be able to find that special coin you need for your set. This change will also benefit the exhibits as it will put them in the entry way to the bourse floor which means everyone will see them.

Security Chairperson Keith Williamson

Plans for security are never made public, but Keith assures us that security will be equal to or better than it was last year.

Medals and Bars Chairperson Gerald Rochelo

Gerald will be set up during the entire show and will have a good supply of medals and bars dating from 1957. The price for bars are $1.00, 10 and 20 year bars are $1.25 and medals $3.75. At those prices everyone should have the full set that they are entitled to wear. I am sure that you will all be at the show, but if you cannot make it you may order your medal and bars direct from Gerald Rochelo, 18261 Cantara, Reseda, CA 91335.

Signs Chairperson Gary Beedon

Gary says that everything is progressing nicely and that there will be plenty of signs around the hotel so that everyone will be able to find the show easily.

Junior Forum Chairperson Helen Mae Coombs

All Junior members are invited to attend the Forum, to be held in the Regency Room from 1:30 to 3:00 p.m. on Saturday. Mrs. Coombs has promised a most exciting time for all attending. There will be door prizes and many, many coins such as Indian Cents, V Nickels, Foreign Coins, etc. distributed. This event promises to be instructional as well as rewarding for our Juniors.

Breakfast and Housing Chairperson Paul Borack

Officers and Club Representative invitational breakfast of bacon and eggs will be held Saturday morning in the Venetian Ballroom. Past President Jim Waldorf will MC the event, while Abe Kosoff, a good friend and long-time member of NASC, is the featured speaker. Following the breakfast will be the annual business meeting, also in the Venetian Ballroom. This is a change from last year, when it was in the Coconut Grove Foyer.

Saturday afternoon promises to be an informative one with several meetings scheduled as follows:

American British Numismatic Society (ABNS) – 11:00 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.,
Wilshire Room

California Wooden Money Association (CWMA) – 1:00 - 2:30 p.m.,
Wilshire Room

Junior Forum – 1:30 - 3:00 p.m., Regency Room

California Exonumist Society (CES) — 2:30 - 4:00 p.m., Press Room

Auction Chairperson Harold Donald

Kagin's will be conducting three sessions. Check the convention program for details on place of display and auction site.

Banquet Chairperson Jerry Yahalom

After a No-Host Cocktail Hour, a delicious dinner will be served in the Venetian Ballroom. A numismatic favor will be at each place. Paul Whitnah will be MC for the evening and Ethel Lenhert will install the new officers. The awards presentation is always a highlight of the banquet. Exhibit Awards will be presented by Chairmen Al and Virginia Hall while all other awards will be given out under the direction of Chairman James J. Waldorf. Special presenters are as follows:

Maurice M. Gould Junior Achievement Award — Ted Lopez

Gordon Z. Greene Junior Best of Show — George Moore, III

Richard P. Goodson Award — Elizabeth L. Wisslead

President's Trophy — Nona Moore

Literary Awards — James J. Waldorf

Ribbons and Badges Chairperson Thomas Fitzgerald

The ribbons have been ordered and the badges will be ready by show time. When you register, be sure to mention if you are a sustaining member or regular member as the ribbons are different.

Awards Chairperson James J. Waldorf

In January, just prior to the show, the Awards Committee will meet to consider nominations for several major awards. Every club bulletin sent in will be considered for the President's Trophy. Literary Awards are given to the top three original articles printed in the Quarterly. If you know a Junior member deserving of recognition, please submit the name, along with a description of the activities he/she is involved in to Chairman Waldorf. The same goes for the Richard P. Goodson Award, the association's highest honor. Jim's address is 7060 Hollywood Blvd., Hollywood, CA 90028.

Dealer's Promotion Chairperson Tom Wood

Our 100+ dealers will be treated to a Continental Breakfast in the mornings and enjoy a cocktail party on Friday. Many of them are long-time faithful supporters of NASC and several are sustaining members.

Post Office Chairperson Robert Thompson

A special cancellation is being prepared for our show. The post office hours will be the same as the convention.

Registration Chairperson Phyllis Duncan

Phyllis reports that they will be in the same location as before and welcomes any and all volunteers to help out whenever possible. It is always nice to see new faces sharing the load with the faithful regulars.

Exhibits Chairpersons Al and Virginia Hall

Each year NASC attracts many outstanding exhibits and this year will be no exception. They will be located in the Foyer and the chairmen are anticipating 200 linear feet of informative displays. The President's Theme category is "America First". Anyone having material to fit in that or any of the other categories are invited to send for an application to exhibit at the following address: Al and Virginia Hall, Box 1028, Colton, CA 92324.

NUMISMATIC AMBASSADOR AWARD

Numismatic Association of Southern California
Carol A. Linn, Corresponding Secretary

Dear Carol:

I'm sure you're aware of the Numismatic Ambassador Award program sponsored by the News, although you may be relatively unaware of the mechanics involved in the selection process.

The purpose of this letter is to acquaint you and your organization, as we are other state and regional groups with the details of this formality as recently revised.

When the Numismatic Ambassador Award program was launched in 1974, the recipients of that first year were selected by the staff of Numismatic News. Since that time past award recipients have selected each year's recipients based on recommendations they themselves have made, and nominations submitted by News readers.

While this process has allowed us to provide Numismatic Ambassador Award recognition to nearly 70 very deserving "collectors' collectors" who have unselfishly extended unending efforts in the interest of building and improving the coin field, it also seems to have inhibited our efforts to concentrate on the original "grassroots" objective of the program.

The Numismatic Ambassador Award program was originally developed for the particular purpose of recognizing individuals whose contributions have been singularly unselfish and unending, and who "have never gained the merit of national recognition".

At a special breakfast meeting held in Cincinnati this past August during the annual ANA convention, the ambassadors in attendance instructed me to seek to better satisfy this objective by soliciting nominations for 1981 awards from state and regional organizations across the country. Any nominations submitted will be considered and passed on by these past recipients of the award.

The requirements for submitting a nomination are very basic:

1. The nominee must reside and serve within your geographic region.
2. The nomination must be accompanied by an appropriate biographical sketch attesting to the nominee's qualifications.
3. Nominations are limited to one per organization, per year, and must be submitted not later than January of the year in which they are intended to be considered.

Could you bring this letter to the attention of your board of membership at its next meeting, or circularize it by mail, so that it will be possible to consider a deserving candidate from your area to receive a Numismatic Ambassador Award in 1981?

For your convenience in considering who you might nominate, I have enclosed a complete listing of prior recipients over the past six and a half years.

Hoping to hear from you in the near future.

Clifford Mishler, Publisher
Numismatic News

The following is a partial list of past recipients of the Numismatic Ambassador Award and many should be familiar to you:

Charles G. Colver, Covina, CA
Glen B. Smedley, Colorado Springs, CO
Florence M. Schook, Livonia, MI
Bryan O. Burke, Jr., San Bernardino, CA
Gordon Greene
R. S. Yeoman, Green Valley, AZ
Herbert M. Bergen, Fullerton, CA
James L. Betton, Jr., Santa Monica, CA
Abe Kosoff, Palm Springs, CA
Charles V. Kappen, San Jose, CA
Ralph A. Mitchell, Fullerton, CA
William and Elizabeth Wisslead, Santa Ana, CA

IN MEMORIUM

It is with deep regret that we have to announce that George Price passed away at 5:00 a.m., November 1, 1980.

It is our sad task to report L. L. Brown passed away October 29, 1980.

DONATION

Dorothy Anderson, President of the Downey Numismatists, announced that the Board of Directors of that club had approved a generous donation to the Walter T. Snyder Memorial Fund for Juniors. I am sure that all of the members of NASC join in saying "Thank you, Downey Numismatists."

CLUB REPORT

By Dr. Thomas F. Fitzgerald

NEW MEETING TIMES AND PLACES

Fontana United Numismatists — American Legion Hall # 772
16769 Spring Street
Fontana
(2nd Friday - 7:30 p.m.)

HAVE YOU HEARD?

Paul Borack — The President Elect of the N.A.S.C. was featured on a two page article in the Santa Monica Evening Outlook. The write-up spotlighted the gold and silver craze and included a large photo of Paul. Mr. Borack was recipient of the 1979 Venice "Man-of-the-Year" award. Congratulations, Paul.

I.N.S.L.A. — At A.I.N.A.'s reception during the ANA Convention in Cincinnati, Murray Singer was proud to introduce six members of the Israel Numismatic Society of Los Angeles. In addition to Mr. Singer, those present included Cliff and Bernice Roth, Lil and Speedie Allfie and Sally Casalaina.

Orange County Coin Club — William O. Wisslead presented a special report of the 1980 ANA Convention at the September 24th meeting of the Orange County Coin Club. Past ANA Presidents Herb Bergen and Virginia Culver, both members of the Orange County Club, were at the meeting to add their views of the convention. Past NASC President Bill reported the most fantastic pancakes he has ever eaten and the discovery of a historic bridge over the famous Ohio River.

California Exonumist Society — New officers of the C.E.S. were installed during the CSNA Convention in San Diego. O. L. Wallis, President; Bill Wisslead, Vice President; Catherine Lenker, Secretary; and Al, Treasurer join with Board Corky Ayers, Anna Panosh, Al Baber, George Moore, III, Dick Lebold, Brian Kestner and Lorna Lebold. Catherine Lenker described and displayed many numismatic items from the San Diego area.

IN MEMORY OF

Leona Kohl — The wife of the late Mel Kohl, Leona died August 13, 1980. She was an officer and member of many southland coin clubs.

Jim Simone — The President of the Monterey Park Coin Club every year since 1975, Jim Simone died in October.

IN HONOR OF

Cliff and Bernice Roth — Congratulations to Cliff and Bernice who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at the A.N.A. Convention in Cincinnati, Ohio in August. May they enjoy good health and many more such celebrations.

Walter Nukes and Harry Greenberg — These members of the Los Angeles Coin Club have visited many schools in the Los Angeles School District to present information on the History of Coins and Paper Money. Both have been recognized by D.O.V.E.S. (Dedicated Older Volunteers in Educational Services) for their efforts. Just recently, Mr. Greenberg was honored with a letter of thanks from the Lorena St. Elementary School for his participation in their special awards presentation. We commend these gentlemen for their work with Los Angeles youth.

Viola and Earl O'Cathey — Congratulations to the former Viola O'Neal and Earl O'Cathey on their wedding, September 6th in Pomona. The writer wonders if Mr. O'Cathey will issue a special wooden nickel to commemorate the event.

Ted Lopez — The ANA announced that Ted Lopez of San Bernardino was the recipient of the 1980 Young Numismatist Award. His award was for his great effort, interest and dedication to the educational part of numismatics. This recognition honors Ted from all the young members of our hobby throughout the United States. In 1978 Ted was the winner of the Maurice M. Gould Memorial Junior Achievement Award by the N.A.S.C.

Ben and Claire Abelson — Congratulations to the Abelsons, Claire and Ben, who celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary in October.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Whittier Coin Club — The Whittier Coin Club celebrated their 21st birthday at the September 12th meeting. A special birthday cake and dishes of ice cream were served along with numismatic birthday gifts for all in attendance. The president is Nate Bromberg.

Orange County Coin Club — This club will host their very special 500th meeting, Tuesday, December 30th rather than their usual fourth Wednesday. Plans are being formulated to hold a fantastic party commemorating this occasion.

CLUB SHOWS

Downey Numismatists — Over one thousand visitors crowded the bourse for the September 6-7 Coin Show sponsored by the Downey Numismatists. The 23 dealers reported a brisk business and at 4:00 p.m. on Sunday, eight gold coins were given to some lucky winners. Special thanks were extended by the club to Dorothy Anderson, chairman of the two day show.

Greater Los Angeles Coin Convention — Sponsored by the local Israel Clubs, the Greater Los Angeles Coin Convention was reported a "huge" success. The investment seminar with Johathan Hefferlin had a standing-room only audience and the AINA meeting featured Mossir Bram, speaking on "AINA — Past and Future Plans." Nachum Hachoen reported on the activities of the Israel Government's Coins and Medals Corporation.

Orange County Coin Club — The Orange County Coin Club is sponsoring a special A.N.A. Building Fund Benefit Coin Show on January 18, 1981 from 10:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. The show will be held at the Holiday Inn, the Riverside Freeway (91) and Harbor Boulevard in Fullerton. The admission is free and all profits are going to the A.N.A. fund. Bourse information is available from Bill Wisslead at 2053 Cypress Ave., Santa Ana, CA 92707.

IDEA BANK

The many coin clubs throughout Southern California offer a tremendous variety of activities and programs. Each organization has programs, ways-of-doing-things, numerous ideas that have proven successful. Many of these ideas may be beneficial if adopted by other clubs and everyone seems willing to share. Beginning with this issue of the Quarterly, we introduce the "IDEA BANK". Very simply, the IDEA BANK is a place where ideas will be collected, stored and made available to any interested club leaders. Ideas will be "deposited" here to be "withdrawn" as needed.

If your club has some idea, some activity or program that has been successful, perhaps you will share it with other clubs. Please send them to this bank (P.O. Box 4144, Covina, CA 91723), and we'll make them available to all interested club members. Below are some ideas from our IDEA BANK. There'll be more each issue.

IDEAS

EXCHANGE MEETING VISITS — Each year the Verdugo Hills and West Valley Coin Clubs exchange meetings. For example, the August 11th meeting of the Verdugo Hill Club was conducted by the officers of the West Valley Club with George Price presenting a program on Political Buttons. On August 24th, the members of the Verdugo Hill Club presented the program at the West Valley meeting with Dennis Rocklin discussing the Old San Francisco Mint.

NUMISMATIST MEANS EDUCATION — In an effort to bring meaning to the term, "numismatists", the Whittier Coin Club features a short quiz each month. All answers may be found in the Red Book and the topic is limited so members may study in advance. For example the club bulletin advised members that Francis Rickard will offer questions on the Barber and Standing Liberty Quarters at the August meeting.

JUNIOR ACTIVITIES — The Covina Coin Club featured their Junior members at the September meeting. These young numismatists took over and ran the regular monthly meeting. Jim Gustin served as President; David Foster, Vice President; Penny King, Secretary; Heather Calvert, Treasurer; Mike King, door prizes; and Tim Gustin, auctioneer, completed the assignments. Junior Alan Langer arranged for his parents, Will and Helen, to present the program.

PROGRAM - THEME NIGHT — Pomona Valley and the Upland Coin Clubs have a program based upon some special theme. For example, some person, place or things such as Jefferson, the U.S. Mint, etc., will be chosen for the theme. All members are asked to bring displays and give a talk on their exhibit, all related to the theme. Awards are to be given to those who participate.

More ideas next issue.

SHE GETS LETTERS. . . . .

Your president has made one of the biggest faux pas in N.A.S.C. history!

Last Quarterly she listed those clubs not represented at the Club Workshop and included Orange County Coin Club among them.

O.C.C.C. President Elizabeth Wisslead and O.C.C.C. Secretary William Wisslead were indeed present at the Club Workshop. Of course they were there — they each served as table leaders throughout the workshop. But because their loyalties were to N.A.S.C. that day, they signed in as representing it and not their own club. So, when I copied the list of club names in my message I did not take the time to analyze it. This is the only explanation I have.

No two people do more for our hobby than the Wisslead's. They stretch themselves far and wide, and I sincerely regret my inadvertent, unintentional slight and apologize profusely to the ORANGE COUNTY COIN CLUB.

Am I forgiven?

Nona

NASC AUCTION NEWS

Kagin's Numismatic Auctions, Inc. is conducting a Rare Coin and Currency Auction in conjunction with the NASC convention. Outstanding prices in all categories of coins and currency were realized at the 1979 auction, and we look for a repeat performance this year.

A select and always highly popular complete Panama-Pacific set, rare 1877 and 1895 Proof Sets, and some possibly unique Liberty Seated Dollars highlight the sale offerings. Superior material of this type is certain to produce the usual large turnout at the convention sale, the 323rd public and mail bid auction conducted by the Kagin's firm of Des Moines, Iowa.

Kagin's is a dynamic quality-oriented numismatic investment/auction firm founded by the celebrated A. M. (Art) Kagin, who has more than fifty years' experience in numismatics. Dr. Donald H. Kagin is President of the firm and is the first and only U.S. recipient of a PhD. degree in numismatics.

Two outstanding people associated with Kagins are Kennille E. Bressett, Vice President for numismatics of Red book fame and Ingrid Smile, past Chief Authenticator for ANACS. With people like these, the auction is sure to be a great success.
